- 25X1 1. Order number 00599, [ ] issued by the Military Council of the Army (Voyennyi Sovet Armii) takes up the question of officer discipline, which has lately degenerated badly, causing low morale, desertion, and treason to the fatherland. The following statistics bearing on lack of discipline are quoted:
- 131 persons were detained by various komendatury;
  - 112 persons were guilty of drunkenness and debauchery;
  - 351 persons were found to have kept company with German women and to have patronized German restaurants;
  - 6 persons committed suicide;
  - 4 persons have deserted and committed treason.
2. The Military Council of the Army judges that the reasons are lack of effective control, ineffective educational work among officers, soft handling of some officers, organization of dancing parties at unsuitable times, drunkenness, etc.
3. Therefore the Commanding General of the Army issued the following orders:
- a. Commanding generals of divisions and their deputies are charged with rendering more effective the educational work among the officer corps, preparing special plans of work, and reading lectures on Soviet patriotism, duties of officers, officer ethics, responsibilities of officers stationed in foreign countries, the great aspirations of Communism, etc.
  - b. All regiments are to elect honor courts, organize periods of discussions and seminars for officers, and set definite hours during the workday and on holidays when officers may attend their clubs (workdays until 24 hours and holidays until 23 hours).
  - c. Officers are forbidden to patronize German entertainment places, theaters, motion picture theaters, private homes, and privately operated shower and bath installations.
  - d. Officers are forbidden to use automobiles to proceed to other garrisons, or to use German taxis to return to their units.
